Field Trips

Jon discusses portrait lighting

Visit to Illini Studios Jon Desson, owner of Illini Studios (illinistudio.com), was kind enough to present the camera club with a workshop style presentation on taking portraits and details for lighting. The workshop took place at his studio and two of our more photogenic members posed as models for the rest of the club to experiment with lighting direction, softness of the light, and the position of the model and camera. We appreciate the support Jon has very generously given the club for many years, serving as a judge for club competitions as well as Best In Show, and Salons.

CICCA Spring Salon

This year's CICCA Spring Salon will be hosted by the Great River Camera Club in Muscatine, Iowa on May 19, 2018. All members of CCCC are eligible to enter the Salon. There are 4 print categories (Small Monochrome, Large Monochrome, Small Color, Large Color) and 3 digital categories (Nature, PhotoRealistic, Altered Reality). Deadline for submitting entrees is May 5. More details will be forthcoming during our club meetings and maybe found on the CICCA website.

Workshops and Conferences

Workshop in Peoria, March 24th, 2018

This is a one day seminar. The speaker is Ian Plant, a world-renowned professional photographer (ianplant.com). Cost is $75 for advanced registration. You can register and find more details using the website peoriacameraclub.com/seminar/

The topic of his seminar is "UNSEEING: TAKING PHOTOS WITH ATTITUDE."

Editors Note: I have several of Ian Plant's e-books, and have followed his work for years. I already have my ticket.
